Gaming and Online Safety...

Socialising Online

A staple of gaming is the community that surrounds it. Groups and audiences can gather around a specific game, character or theme to build specific fan bases that can interact with each other. Young people may like to socialise online because:

- It gives them a platform to be with friends outside of school
- There is usually a competitive element at play, which can feel rewarding
- It can build confidence and social skills which may not be attainable physically
- It gives opportunity to young people who have difficulty socialising with friends and others

Reporting and Blocking

Gaming communities can range from supportive and educational, to toxic and harmful. In some instances, it can even lead towards more radical content being promoted. When faced with something or someone being harmful online, make sure young people know how to:

- Report the player or piece of content
- Mute or block the player
- Manage their privacy settings or communication options
- Speak with a trusted adult for support
